

THE FOCAL POINT

Vol. 50, Issue 6/7

JUNE-JULY, 2014

SIVAN-TAMMUZ-Av 5774

From Your Rabbi...

A rabbi, a cantor, and a synagogue president were driving to a seminar when they were kidnapped. The hijackers asked the three of them to hand over all of their money and jewelry. When they replied that they hadn't any, the hijackers told them that immediately after their last wishes were fulfilled, they would be killed. "My last wish," began the rabbi, is to give a fascinating, complicated, long sermon that I have always wanted to but never been allowed to give." "We will grant your wish," the hijackers replied. "My last wish," said the cantor, "is to sing a beautiful, Yemenite style song, one of my own compositions lasting two hours. I have never been allowed to sing it." "We'll let you sing it," replied the hijackers. "What is your last wish," the hijackers asked the shul president. "Please, please shoot me now!"

Synagogues throughout the world are struggling to meet the challenge to provide for the spiritual needs of today's Jewish individuals. If you are familiar with the famous Pew report, being Jewish to most Jewish Americans means remembering the Holocaust, leading an ethical/moral life, working for social justice, being intellectually curious, caring about Israel and having a good sense of humor. Being part of a Jewish community and observing Jewish law was on the bottom of the list. They find synagogue services boring, rituals leave them unmoved and perplexed, and wonder, why be Jewish. To add to the challenge, thirty-four percent of those who identified as Jews said that one can be Jewish and believe in Jesus.

The good news is that Jewish people are the most avid seekers of spirituality. However, many who grew up in synagogues did not find what they were looking for. Over the last several decades, many synagogues have resorted to "dumbing down" Judaism in the hope that if Judaism was made easier for people, more people would join. This concept proved dead wrong. As a matter of fact, most Jewish people are looking for something authentic and serious, something real and something Americanism can't provide. They want answers to life's questions: Who am I? Why am I here? How then shall I live? Those are the questions for which we need faith to answer.

As a shul and as a community, we must become a home to spiritual seekers. In order to accomplish this we must decide what we are here for, what younger Jewish individuals and families are looking for and how Kehilath Israel Synagogue can help people on their spiritual journey. There are no easy answers and will certainly require thinking "outside of the box."

I look forward to taking that journey with you and making it a reality.

Rabbi Jeffrey A. Shron

From Your President...

Dear KI Congregational Family,

I hope this issue of the Focal Point finds everyone well. Summer is fast approaching and it looks to be a busy spring and summer season here at K.I.

Rabbi Shron has some fun Shabbat evenings planned for our outdoor space in back of K.I. with catered meals which I know will be a good time for all who attend, and I hope that is all of us. There will be some fun programming in the months to come so please watch for them, consider volunteering for them and most of all attend.

We will be doing a Mitzvah Day which is always a very rewarding way to spend the day helping those less fortunate than ourselves.

The K.I. officers and board are working to go through a list of committees dating back to the 1980s and decide which are pertinent to K.I. today. We will then have our officers picking the committee chairs who will then work to seat their committees. When someone asks you to participate in a committee please take part. Synagogues as well as other organizations work far better when those in the organization take an active role in helping move the group forward in a positive manner. This includes helping on committees whose work it is to guide, plan, organize, program and enhance a particular area of K.I. You might even pick a committee that is a particular area interest to you and approach the officer or chairperson in charge and volunteer. We will soon have a list that outlines the committee, chairperson and the officer liaison to make it easier for you to make contact. K.I. cannot make positive strides forward if we all don't pitch in. Committee membership is a perfect way to do your part to help K.I. accomplish great things.

Briefly, I will update you on some projects we are already working on. We have identified a firm to do our financial review and will be moving forward with that project soon.

The new K.I. website is very close to a go live date and it promises to be a hit. It will have terrific interactivity, ease of use, simple navigation and very orderly. I am really looking forward to its arrival.

The K.I. Golf Tournament will be another resounding success and has become K.I.'s second largest fundraiser. Thank you to Amy Goldstein, Alan Gallas and their wonderful team of volunteers!

In future issues I will be asking other K.I. officers to write for the Focal Point; I know they will be well received. Please have a fun and safe summer, and I hope to see you all at K.I. very soon!

All the best,
Craig Caplan, President

ותגיענו למרחץ חקצנו

ולשלום

ותצילנו מכף כל אויב נאורב בדרך
ומכל מיני פרעניות המתרששות לבוא לעולם,
ותשלח ברכה בכל מעשה ידינו,
ותתנו לנו ולרחמנו בעיניך ובעיני כל רואינו,
ותשמע קול תחנונינו, כי קול שומע תפלה ותחנון אתה.
ברוך אתה ה', שומע תפלה.

May it be your will, Eternal One, Beloved of our ancestors, to lead us in peace and direct our steps in peace, to guide us in peace, to support us in peace and to bring us to our destination in life, joy and peace. Deliver us from the hands of every enemy and lurking foe, and robbers and wild beasts on the journey, and from all kinds of all calamities that may come to us and afflict the world to bestow blessing upon all our actions. Grant me grace, kindness and mercy in Your eyes and in the eyes of all who behold us, and bestow bountiful kisses upon us. Hear the voice of my prayer, for You hear everyone's prayer. Blessed are You, Lord, who hears prayer.

CUB SCOUT PACK 3153

With our May 22nd Pack meeting last month, Cub Scout Pack 3153 has completed its 25th year of providing the Cub Scout program to the Jewish community since being founded and sponsored by Kehilath Israel Synagogue in 1988. A "transition ceremony" was held moving the boys up one grade level in their program. Now the summer programming begins with camp programs and planned "Summer-time Pack Activities."

Camp Programs include Cub Scout Day Camp (coordinated by Elly Goldstein, Cubmaster), Overnight "Bear" Resident Camp for boys going into 3rd grade in the fall (lead by Brian Balanoff and Aaron Tarjan), and Overnight "Webelos" Resident Camp for boys beginning 4th and 5th grades in the fall (lead By Brad Klinock and Richard Jacobson). Overnight/Resident Camping programs are held at the Theodore Naish Scout Reservation in Bonner Springs. As has been the case since the Pack's inception, the additional expense incurred in order to provide kosher meals is generously subsidized by the K.I. Men's Club.

We are anticipating substantial growth (to 40+ boys) within the Pack this coming year, as the "incoming" class of current kindergarteners is substantial. We have held a "Spring Recruitment" to introduce the programming, and will do a "Fall Recruitment" in late August or early September. The first "special event" will be the Sukkah "Camp-in" on Chol Hamoed Sukkot, October 11, in the K.I. Sukkah.

Cub Scout Pack 3153 is open to all boys who will be entering the 1st through 5th grades this fall from throughout both the Jewish and general communities. The program is Shabbat and holiday observant and maintains kashrut at all functions. If you (or your friends) have sons, grandsons, nephews, etc. in this age range, this is THE activity to look into! For further information regarding Cub Scout Pack 3153, please do not hesitate to contact Elly Goldstein 913.544.2354/Elly.goldstein@bostonbeer.com), or Ted Goldstein, Pack Committee Chair 913.271.6798/tgoldstein613@gmail.com.
