From Your Rabbi...

It's hard to believe that I am beginning my nineteenth year at K.I., and my third year as your rabbi. Believe it or not, it has been my pleasure to serve as your rabbi, and I thank you and value your confidence by selecting me to be your spiritual leader. I truly look forward to each new day with much optimism, and I feel privileged to have the opportunity to share a part in your lives.

We have had two very successful years with several new programs and innovations, and in the past year and a half we have had eighteen new members join our congregation. We have formed a new program committee which has already planned many new and fun events and programs for the coming year. I hope all of you will come out and participate in as many of these as possible.

Thanks to the generosity of the Devinki family, our religious school is leading the way by welcoming every child in our Jewish community into our school, without requiring membership to our synagogue -- tuition free. A quality Jewish education should be available to every Jewish child, and finances should never get in the way. We are also pleased that Rachel Macek has accepted the position of school director. I am looking forward to a great school year.

I realize that our traditional Shabbat morning service can be challenging for some; therefore, I encourage you to attend the Shabbat Lite service once a month. This is an informal/learner's service in our chapel, from 10-11 am, where virtually every aspect of our rich Jewish heritage and liturgy is discussed and explored, bringing new meaning, understanding and relevance into our lives. The dress code is casual.

Over the years, people have suggested that more people would attend Shabbat services if they could come dressed as they please. First of all, I don't think that is true, and second, coming to shul in shorts or jeans and a tee shirt shows a lack of respect for Shabbat and the shul. Standing before G-d in prayer is not the same as going to a concert or sporting event. If one would be invited to meet the president of our country, one would certainly be dressed appropriately. Having that said, I would not object if a man came to shul wearing a nice

K.I. ANNOUNCES NEW RELIGIOUS SCHOOL DIRECTOR

Kehilath Israel Synagogue is pleased to welcome Rachel Macek as the new director of the Kehilath Israel Fred Devinki Religious School.

Rachel brings years of experience working in education to her new position. She earned her Bachelors of Science and Masters of Science in education from the University of Kansas. She has taught science and engineering classes for over eight years in the public school system. Rachel has been working in the Kansas City, Kansas School District central office for the last seven years as part of the curriculum department.

Rachel also has over twelve years of experience teaching in local religious schools. She has experience writing and reviewing curriculum in both public and religious schools. Rachel plans to bring this knowledge with her to the Kehilath Israel Fred Devinki Religious School to improve the great curriculum that is already being taught.

Rachel is a life-long resident of Overland Park. She has been a member of Kehilath Israel for over seven years, serving in the past on the executive board. She and her husband, Scott Macek, are active with many of K.I.'s activities. Rachel lives with her husband and son, Yedid Dov.

This year Kehilath Israel Synagogue is opening their religious school doors to all Jewish children in the community tuition-free. Rabbi Shron states, "We would like K.I. to be a place where people can send their kids to receive a good Jewish education and not have finances be an obstacle for that Jewish education."

The school is being funded by the Fred Devinki Jewish Education Scholarship Fund for Kehilath Israel Synagogue. The fund was created by Maria Devinki and the Devinki family specifically to help spur Jewish education at the synagogue. This is the first year the fund is being used to include children from the Jewish community at large.

The school serves children in grades preK – 10th. Classes are on Sunday mornings and Wednesday afternoons. Classes begin on August 30th. Enrollment forms can be found on the synagogue website (kisyn.org).

For more information, contact Rachel Macek, macek.rachel@gmail.com or call the synagogue office at 913.642.1880.

shirt and pants, and a woman wearing a nice blouse and skirt or nice slacks. This would both keep the sanctity of the day and make people feel more comfortable.

My goal as a rabbi is to keep the traditions of our synagogue, but to create a more user friendly and informal atmosphere; a place where all who attend will feel more spiritual and more enlightened than when they first arrived. I also want to be as accessible to the congregation as possible. If you are in need of my help or guidance, please feel free to contact me. Of course, everything is strictly confidential.

If we all pitch in and work together, Kehilath Israel Synagogue can be a vibrant spiritual home to us all.

GOLF TOURNAMENT STILL GOING STRONG

The 16th Annual Allan Greenberg Memorial Golf Tournament was another great success for Kehilath Israel Synagogue. Thanks to the incredible efforts of the Golf Committee volunteers and tournament chairs, Amy Goldstein and Alan Gallas.

Held on June 22nd at Oakwood Country Club, participants were treated to a VAAD supervised "best chicken ever" BBQ style lunch before golfers' shotgun start at 12:15pm. The food sponsors were Aaron Pfefer and Debbie Cohen, and it was deliciously prepared by a hard-working committee led by Brenda McKinnon. Smoke 'n' Fire generously donated for the second year a $1500 grill that was raffled that day. The silent auction was a big hit and wrapped up after golfers returned to the clubhouse from a great day of golf. The committee is already at work on next year's tournament.

Kehilath Israel is so thankful for the generous sponsors, donors, and volunteers who have made this tournament a great success. Please show your appreciation to our donors and volunteers by thanking them and supporting their businesses. We also greatly appreciate Scott Fishman for taking pictures.
