Rabbi Shron's Joke of the Week:

Peter, a well known anti-Semite, walks into a bar and is about to order a drink when he sees a guy close by with kippa, tzitzis, and payess. He doesn't have to be an Einstein to know that this guy is Jewish. So Peter shouts over to the bartender so everyone can hear, "Drinks for everyone in here, but not for that guy over there," pointing to the Jewish guy. Soon after the drinks have been handed out, Peter notices that the Jewish guy is smiling. This infuriates him and in a loud voice, he once again orders drinks for everyone except the Jewish guy. But as before, this does not seem to worry the Jewish guy who continues to smile. So he says to the bartender, "What the matter with that guy over there? I've ordered two round of drinks for everyone in the bar except that guy, and all he does is smile and look happy. Is he crazy or what?" "No, he's absolutely normal, he's the owner of this bar."

ISRAEL UPDATE FEBRUARY 17, 2017

Trump, Netanyahu Hold First Summit

On Feb. 15, President Donald Trump and Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu held their first meeting of the Trump presidency. The prime minister is the first Middle East leader to visit the White House during the Trump Administration. In a joint press conference, the two leaders underscored the shared values of their two countries and pledged to work together on matters affecting the U.S.-Israel relationship. They agreed to address the threat posed by Iran's nuclear weapons program; confront one-sided unilateral actions against Israel at the United Nations; and explore ways to promote peace. "The partnership between our two countries, built on our shared values, has advanced the cause of human freedom, dignity and peace," said Trump. Netanyahu added: "To me, to the State of Israel, it was so clearly evident in the words you just spoke, Israel has no better ally than the United States. And I want to assure you, the United States has no better ally than Israel. Our alliance has been remarkably strong...and is based on a deep bond of common values and common interest."
