First I would like to begin by wishing Arnie Caviar a mazal tov on his upcoming unprecedented fifth term as president of Kehilath Israel Synagogue. Most of his officers are returning with him. They are a good working team and will continue to help “grow” the synagogue.

Now to turn to some American politics. With the upcoming inauguration our President-elect Obama, we will now hopefully see a liberalizing in a number of areas in social/human rights. Stem cell research is so vital to the potential healing of various diseases and very much in keeping with Jewish law. Stem cell research will once again be permitted in Federal facilities as he has promised to immediately reverse President George W. Bush’s executive order which prohibited stem cell research for years. Also, certain types of abortion and other women’s rights will once again be permitted by Executive Order in the armed forces and various other Federal facilities which have forbidden the same due to President Bush’s wishes. The Jewish faith, though not wildly pro-abortion, still respects the right of a woman to her body and believes even in the more traditional setting in women’s rights in the area of abortion.

We wish President-elect Obama G-d’s speed and hope that the radical change that we see ahead will be for the good of our country and the good of the Jewish people as well. I have not felt the dynamism around the country and the hopeful outlook that I now hear expressed frankly since President Kennedy was inaugurated when I was a teenager back in January of 1961. May President-elect Obama’s Administration launch a new Camelot for the good of America and the good of the Jewish people.

ICH A D’AMREI - SOME SAY!

Dear Congregational Family,

For some reason the other day I remembered a question that was posed to me during my interview for Rabbinical School, some years ago. If my memory serves me correctly the question was, “Mr. Bauman, what type of Jew are you?” The questioner was attempting to clarify for himself and perhaps the committee as to which “movement” of Judaism I most identify, whether it is Reform, Conservative, or Orthodox. My response was, and remains today, to simply be “the Jewish type.” My thinking was, and in many regards still is, shaped not on where someone obtained their education but rather on the quality of the person and the individual’s behavior. Unlike Germany in the 19th century, where Jews were looking to be integrated into the larger society and were struggling on the best approach to take, today the glass ceiling seems no longer to be in tact. Since the advent of formal movements of Judaism in the 19th century (Reform, Conservative, and Orthodox) the world has continued to change at rapid speed. Not only has the world at large changed so much but the Jewish world in particular also looks different. In fact there are those who are currently writing that we are seeing a post-denominational era emerge in the Jewish community. Perhaps what we are really experiencing is not a new era but rather a throwback to a prior time. The Festival of Lights, Chanukah, through its legal practice offers us insight into this phenomenon.

The Shulkan Aruch, the Code of Jewish Law, written by Rabbi Joseph Karo (Sefat, Israel) codifies how one should kindle the Chanukah lamp. “How many lamps (candles) does one light on the first night of the festival? Light one and from that night on add an additional candle each night until the last night where there will be eight lamps (candles) lit. This is true even if there are many people in the house do not light more.” Rabbi Moses Issreles (Krakow, Poland) in his gloss to Rabbi Karo’s law explains “There are those that say that everyone in the house needs to light (his or her own Chanukiah) and this is the simple practice.” While formal movements did not appear until the 19th century in Germany the notion that there were Jews behaving differently because they lived in a different part of the world is as old as time itself. The Fast of the 10th of Tevet, commemorates the beginning of the siege of Jerusalem in 586 B.C.E. which led to the destruction of the Temple, will occur this year on Tuesday, January 6. The fast begins at 6:15 a.m. and ends at 5:47 p.m.

As I write this column, I am sitting at my daughter Carla’s house in Modiin (yes there are two i’s), Israel, where she lives with her husband Elie and her three children Akiva, Nate & newborn Gabriella. The reason why this is noteworthy is, first of all, until now, I have never been in Israel for any Jewish holiday, and as of this writing, we will be celebrating Chanukah in two weeks. Second, Modiin is the biblical city where the Maccabee family lived, and third, there is absolutely no indication that the holiday of Christmas exists (although the holiday lighting in Kansas is pretty.) However, in Israel, Chanukah is very similar to Christmas in the fact that most cities and homes do display outdoor lights, after all, Chanukah is the holiday of lights, municipalities erect giant Chanukah menorahs, many businesses and shuls have family Chanukah parties, schools have their winter vacations and families get together to light their chanukiot and celebrate the holiday singing chanukah songs while eating their sufganiot (jelly donuts) and levivot (potato latkes). When it comes to giving presents, only the American Israelis give presents to their children, while the native Israelis, who never have had the Christian influences, generally do not give presents.

As I have stated in the past, there is no better place on earth for a Jewish person to live than in Israel. With all their craziness, politics, red tape, 6-7 dollar a gallon gas prices, severe weather and security issues, being in Israel just feels right. At supermarkets one never has to look for kosher symbols on products because the entire supermarket is kosher. If you want to dine out, you have to look really hard to find a non-kosher restaurant. On Shabbat and major festivals, schools and businesses are closed. Most Israeli citizens can read and understand Hebrew and their national anthem is a song about the hope for freedom and peace and not about fighting and battles. And although in the U.S. we might have bigger houses and nicer cars, we will always be strangers living in a strange land.

Any Jewish person who has not visited Israel is missing out on the experience of a lifetime, and even if you have visited Israel you need to visit again in order to revitalize your Jewish soul. There are so many programs and tours for all ages, and whether young or old, being in Israel awakens the spirit, elevates you to a higher level of spirituality and makes you proud of your heritage. Let’s not say next year in Jerusalem, but say this year in Yerushalayim!

Welcome to the year 2009

For those who attended the ‘Miracle of Chanukah,’ I hope you had a great time! Thank you, Marvin Orlovick and Men’s Club for helping make the event the wonderful event it was. I also want to thank the committee members and all the volunteers that worked so hard to help make the event run smoothly.

January is a quiet month. No holidays or big events, but February brings Tu B’Shevat. Last year we had a great program planned, but the weather did not cooperate. I am trying again this year, expanding the program by working with Kesher K.I. on February 8. It should be a wonderful fun morning of learning, eating and entertainment. Please look for more information somewhere in this Focal Point.

I also want to send out an early request for HAMENTASHEN makers. We are back in the kitchen. Men’s Club and K.I. Sisterhood are teaming up to make the hamentashen for the Mishloach Manot and the Megillah reading. Don’t be shy. Contact me or I will be contacting you. I would like to have every generation in that kitchen rolling the dough!

I look forward to having FUN with everyone in 2009!

K.I. Sisterhood President

MEN’S CLUB

This begins the second year of my Administration and I must say it has been very interesting. I don't believe I could have made it without the help of the Board. We ended the year with the Chanukah party that we chaired with the Sisterhood. I must tell you that those of you who did not participate really missed out. Members of the Men’s Club came out and helped make it a success. I want to thank Abbott Zolotor, Sheldon Snitz, Kevin Skea, Jacob Schulzinger, Marty Gorin, Andy Schwartz, Greg Quinn and honorary members Toby Orlovick and Eunice Snitz for all the help they gave.

We have a pancake breakfast scheduled for January with an interesting speaker and of course our paid up dinner for our paid up members. No cost for members. A small cost for family and friends. This will be held in February.

I just want to close with a thought. It was so nice to see so many young families with their children. I really enjoyed talking to the kids.

Dues statement are out, please respond at your earliest convenience.

The Book of Life ceremony was led by Lauren Hoopes and Diane Azorsky. The closing remarks made by Ro Jacobson and Joyce Zeldin were brief but so meaningful.

I want to share Carol and my statement in the Book of Life:

ARNOLD AND CAROL CAVIAR

At its core, our story is based on the “anything-but-simple journey” of learning from wonderful role models and experiencing life’s challenges, setbacks and successes. Our lives include a pathway of shared Jewish values and principles.

It is a story of making a difference.

The events of our younger years - Arnie in Kansas City and Carol in Memphis – inspired a passion to help others. And along the way we discovered countless opportunities and amazing people to fulfill that passion.

We have been very fortunate throughout our lives - experiencing mazal and bracha - good fortune and blessings.

We believe that the spiritual significance of Tzedakah – generosity - and Chesed - loving kindness - involves actions and commitments beyond financial gifts. It also means donating one’s time, talent and energy to those in need.

We know that when we give to others a splendid transformation takes place. The recipients are elevated beyond whatever we can provide, and our joy of “doing the right thing” is without limits.

When we can make a difference, we “make it happen.” This includes our support of private individuals as well as Kehilath Israel Synagogue, Jewish Federation, Amit, Little Sisters of the Poor, Children’s Mercy Hospital, and others.

Two compelling truths have emerged from our shared life’s journey:

An Understanding Heart

We believe strongly and without hesitation in reaching out to others and allowing others to reach out to us; in responding with empathy and love to those in need; and in praying for strength, courage and comfort from a loving, healing G-d.

Making a Difference

Only through our actions by helping others can we be like the honey associated with Rosh Hashanah, with its newness, freshness and sweetness.

And what is life’s purpose all about?

Thinking big, chasing dreams, working hard, overcoming obstacles and most importantly – Giving Back - and being a blessing to others!

Why do we share this with you? We hope you will put in the back of your mind to give back, whether now or in the future. The Jewish Community Foundation is a great place to share.

-G

J.N.F. LET US PLAY PROJECT

The Kesher K.I. Religious School students participated last month in the J.N.F. “Let Us Play” Day. The pupils first watched a JNF Video showing the unfortunate circumstances of the children of Sderot in Israel who could not play outside freely due to the continual rocket attacks in the area. They learned about the JNF Project of building a beautiful indoor playground there. Teachers Barbara Mandl and Jenny Madlof then explained the “Let Us Play” Project where the children should obtain sponsors for this day of play the following week.

The day then arrived for the children to participate in this project. They returned to class excited to share how much they had collected and to play games for one half hour of class. Some of them had even gone from door to door to their Jewish neighbors (first checking whether the houses had mezuzzot!!) requesting sponsorship for this great cause.

The pupils went home proudly wearing the badges that they were given by J.N.F. Both classes together collected a total of $370 which will be forwarded to JNF Israel towards the building of the indoor playground in Sderot. We are planning additional fundraising projects to assist in the building of the playground.

If you are unable to participate in Mitzvah Day 2009, but wish to support the Chesed Committee, please contact Mary Covitz (913.451.9123) or Jenny Madlof (913.766.1714) and learn about other ways you can "Do a Mitzvah" such as:

- Visiting our congregants in nursing homes, hospitals, or visiting those who are confined to their homes
- Making phone calls to our members at times of bereavement, following hospitalization, on wedding anniversaries, on birthdays, or after having babies
- Cooking and/or delivering meals for those sitting shiva
- Helping to organize an event or program that provides a mitzvah, including Mitzvah Day
- Making a donation to the Chesed Fund to help pay for meals and/or for emergencies.

The world exists on three things: on Torah study, on the service of G-d, and on acts of kindness.
